Re: Consorzio v. Daniele

Dear Stuart:

I will be responding to the discovery that I feel pertains to Count I that I have not objected to and/or that I have qualified the objection and have agreed to provide certain information and/or documents.

Several people have been away on vacation, including Steve Samuels, from whom I am waiting to obtain information. I have received the responsive documents from my client. The documents still need to be sorted, labeled, copied and bate stamped.

I expect to receive the documents from Steve Samuels early next week. Thus, barring any unforeseen emergency and/or circumstance beyond my control, I anticipate sending out responses to discovery within Count I by no later than February 15, 2008.

The discovery I do not respond to will be the discovery I feel falls within Counts II and III which will await the court's determination on the motion that was filed.

If the court does not agree with my position, you and I have made good faith efforts to discuss the discovery objections and to try and work out a compromise. As to those efforts, documents and information pending the court's ruling will be produced.

Very truly yours,

Jessica L. Papazian-Ross
